

I would like to recommend increasing the frequency allocation for the technician class to include more HF privileges, and not changing the General requirement for Element 1. Giving the technician class more phone privileges in the HF bands is a valid request. Understanding the electronic's of radio and emergency communications instrumentation available with limited electronic knowledge is a part of the amateur experience. A simple limited understanding of code makes this knowledge critical to the application of this knowledge.